PROJECT H₂grOw

Swimming Australia and The University of Sydney - Project H2grOw

Would you like to identify your son or daughter's maturation status? Would you like to track maturation status with swimming performance?

Throughout the duration of the Swimming New South Wales Country Swimming Championships, Swimming Australia (SA) in conjunction with The University of Sydney will be in attendance continuing their research in the Project H2grOw initiative. This research involves tracking growth and maturation in developing swimmers and establishing solutions that account for that growth.

They will be situated on the walkway at the SOPAC pool, and will be looking for athletes aged 10 and over to volunteer and take part in the research testing.

The tests will involve measuring height, sitting height and weight and as an outcome you will receive an individual report suggesting your future growth patterns.
